

INT. SUPERMARKET BACK LOADING/STORAGE AREA - DAY

KYLE sits on a stack of boxes. He eats an apple. VIRGINIA (GINNY) moves boxes from a large pile by the loading dock into more manageable stacks near the doors to the front of the supermarket.

KYLE

It wasn't an apple.

GINNY

Sorry? What was that? I couldn't hear you over the sound of me working.

KYLE

I said "it wasn't an apple."

GINNY

And I was lying.

KYLE

Nobody likes a liar, Ginny.

GINNY

Pretty sure "lazy co-worker" doesn't get the highest marks either, Kyle.

KYLE

It was a pomegranate.

GINNY

What was a pomegranate?
(sudden pained look)
Oh, wait...

KYLE

In the Bible. It was a pomegranate and not an apple that the snake offered Eve.

GINNY

(to herself)
Ginny Marie when are you going to learn.
(to Kyle)
Really? Wow. Good to know. Okay, guess it's time to, you know, move boxes.

KYLE

I find that fascinating.

GINNY

Kyle, I'm not trying to surpress your religious freedom or anything, but can we just get through one day without it turning into "Bible Study?"

KYLE

Recent estimates put the number of Bibles printed between 1815 and 1975 at close to 5 billion.

GINNY

Man, that's a whole lotta "thou shall nots!"

KYLE

It's the best selling book in the world.

GINNY

Well, there are a lot of motels.

KYLE

You know, it's funny you say that because --

GINNY

Kyle, Kyle - buddy - give it a rest. We get it. You know a lot about the Bible.

KYLE

Did you know --

GINNY

Nope! Yup! Doesn't matter. What matters right now is whether or not you're gonna get off your butt and help me.

KYLE

(sincere)

Oh. You need some help?

GINNY

Uh... yeah! Don't want you to accidentally become a sinner. You know, sloth and all.

KYLE

Yeah, I'm Jewish. We don't really believe in those.

GINNY

You're --?!? Wait, what? You're Jewish?

KYLE

Oh, yeah. Been that way since...

GINNY

Uh... birth?

KYLE

Yeah. That's right.

GINNY

Okay, so why the Bible obsession then?
Not that there's anything wrong with that.

KYLE

It's my Dad.

GINNY

Your Dad's Christian?

KYLE

No, my Dad's Jewish.

GINNY

Okay?

KYLE

But he's been dating a Christian woman lately, and I think they're starting to get serious.

GINNY

Oh. So you're trying to get to understand where she's coming from. Wow. That's really awesome, Kyle.

KYLE

Oh, no -- I just think she's really hot.

GINNY

Whoa! And by "whoa" I mean - "whaaat?"

KYLE

Yeah, she's definitely a babe.

GINNY

A babe who your father is dating!? What is wrong with you?!

KYLE

Ooohh. I see where you're coming from.
You think I want to bang my old man's old lady.

GINNY

Stop talking!

KYLE

Now that would be wrong.

GINNY

Ya think??

KYLE

No, I just meant that since she's hot then her daughter's probably hot too.

GINNY

Her daughter?

KYLE

Yeah, apparently she has a daughter about my age from her first marriage. Hey! Wouldn't that be cool if my Dad marries the Mom and I marry the daughter?

GINNY

You and I have different definitions of cool. And I'm pretty sure your's is technically a felony.

KYLE

What?

GINNY

Kyle - you can't marry your step-sister!

KYLE

Oh, no - you can. I checked.

GINNY

Oh, god.

KYLE

Careful. Taking the Lord's name in vain -- mortal sin.